There are 24 Circles through which the Archaeological Survey of India administers the work of preservation and conservation of monuments under its protection. Recently, the three Mini-Circles were upgraded to Circles with headquarter at Mumbai, Shimla and Goa for administrative convenience. Besides, there are 6 Excavation Branches, 2 Temple Survey Projects, 1 Building Survey Project, 1 Prehistory Branch, 1 Science Branch, 2 Epigraphy Branches (one for Arabic & Persian and the other for Sanskrit and

Plate-V: View of Nahabatkhana at Eastern part of Imambara, Dist. Murshidabad, West Bengal (During conservation)
Dravidian) and 1 Horticulture Branch in ASI through which various research work in different fields are undertaken.

Under the Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Sites and Remains Act, 1958, the ASI has declared 3667 monuments/sites to be of national importance in the country, which includes 21 properties that are inscribed on the World Heritage List by UNESCO. Since its establishment 145 years ago, the ASI has grown into a large organisation with an all India network of offices, branches and circles. Eight monuments/sites were declared protected during the year 2005-06 as per the details given below:-

1. Hayagriva Madhava Temple, Hazo, District Kamrup, Assam.

Dhulha Deo Temple, Khajuraho, Distt. Chhatarpur

committee visited the site on 22-25\textsuperscript{th} November 2005.

Conservation and Preservation of Monuments

Conservation, preservation and maintenance of the centrally protected monuments and sites are the prime tasks of ASI. The total number of individual structures being maintained by the ASI is over five thousand. During 2005-06, more than 700 monuments were taken up for conservation and structural repairs, chemical preservation and environmental development besides day-to-day maintenance of 3667 monuments. Of these 172 monuments were taken for scientific preservation and 168 monuments were selected for environmental development in and around the sites.

Archaeological excavations

The ASI carried out excavations at different sites during the year 2005-06. The significant results of some of the prominent excavations are summarized below:

Bhirrana, Fatehabad, Haryana: The excavations of the site revealed evidence of habitational remains of the early and mature Harappan periods. Apart from this, the site reported Harappan seals, copper artifacts, bangles, beads of semi precious stones such as lapis lazuli, carnelian, agate, jasper, terracotta, shell and gold from different levels. All these findings were approximately datable to the third millennium BC.
Hansi, Hissar, Haryana: The excavations revealed habitational remains starting from the Kushana to the British times. The sporadic evidences of the Painted Grey Ware sherds, elsewhere datable to circa 1200 BC, were also recovered from the fillings of the fortification wall. Aganary of the Rajput period having large quantities of charged grains was exposed. Two coin hoards of the bull and horseman type of the Rajput period were also discovered.

Baror, Rajasthan: The excavations brought to light stratified lords of early and mature Harappan periods. The early Harappan period here is represented by the mud brick structures associated with the typical painted pottery, decorated with bichrome painted designs. Evidence of hearth containing ash and charcoal suggested fire activities. Important finds included steatite seals, copper and stone artifacts, beads of semi-precious stones, bangles, etc.

Dholavira, Kutchh, Gujarat: The excavations reported water management and storage system engineered by the Harappans (circa 3rd-2nd millennium B.C) within the walled cityscape. The rock-cut well exposed inside the Eastern Tank was excavated to its entire depth. Further excavations of two burial mounds of Harappan period in the cemetery area revealed special pottery vessels types with pedestal bases in association with steatite and semi-precious stone beads besides gold ornament, without evidence of any human skeletal remains.

Sanauli, Baghpat, Uttar Pradesh: The excavations at the site have brought to light a large number of late Harappan graves, furnished with grave furniture hitherto unknown, with or without human skeletons. The human skeletons discovered were of extended fractional types. The skeletons found with ornaments like copper bangles, beaded bracelets, etc. on hands, and necklaces comprising of semi-precious stones beads round the neck. Of singular interest is discovery of an antenna sword along with its sheath from one of the burials, which had an array of buried pottery vessels.

St. Augustine Complex, North Goa: The excavation revealed tombs and burial chambers of the friars (brothers) of Augustinian order. Iron objects and implements, porcelains, celadon sherds, glazed sherds and decorative tiles were among the artifacts collected.

Daulatabad Fort, Aurangabad, Maharashtra: The excavation carried out to the west of Bharatmata temple has brought to light habitational remains datable from the Yadava period to the late Mughal period. The findings of a large number of copper and gold coins of various dynasties have enabled to date the different cultural levels. The habitational remains consist of house complexes parallel to streets, lanes and by-lanes. The findings also include that of fragments of sculptural remains, beads, bangles, combs, etc.

Saluvankuppam, Distt. Kanchipuram, Tamil Nadu: The excavation was started here based on an inscription on a boulder near the Tiger Cave at Saluvankuppam which denotes the donation given to a temple of Subramanya during the rule of Chola king Kulottunga and Rashtrakuta King Krishna III (936-967 AD). The excavation in the nearby area brought to light the remains of a brick temple of the pre-Pallava period. The temple on plan consists of garbhagriha, ardhamandapa and a mukhamandapa.

Underwater Archaeology Wing

The Underwater Archaeology Wing of ASI carried out offshore and onshore excavations at Mahabalipuram (Tamil Nadu). Underwater investigations conducted near submerged rocks in 6 to 8 m depth brought to light human activities in the form of geometric cuttings on these rocks and stones. Further investigations to the north of Shore Temple revealed submerged structures and carved architectural members of archaeological interest. Remains of two structural temples were also unearthed to the south of Shore Temple. Excavated remains and submerged structural remains suggest change in coastline or sea level fluctuation during historical period.

Institute of Archaeology

Institute of Archaeology is presently conducting two year PGDA course for 30 students. Training is imparted by eminent scholars / subject experts of the ASI. The experts from different Universities and allied Educational Institutes are invited to deliver lectures. The Branch is now in a position to provide plants to be used in gardens by developing base nurseries at Delhi, Agra, Mysore and Bhubneshwar.

During the year 2005-06, the relaying of gardens and beautification works were undertaken at Akbar's Tomb, Sikandara, Rambagh, Amar Singh gate and road junction area at Agra Fort (Exterior), Ganesh temple area of Jhansi Fort, Jhansi, Dulha Deo Temple, Khajurao, Sanchi and Mandu.

The following important discoveries were made during the period under report:-

Brahmo Inscription, Nalgonda District, Andhra Pradesh

A recently excavated Buddhist site at Phanigiri has yielded a number of early Brahmi inscriptions in Prakrit and Sanskrit languages. One of them is an inscription engraved on a loose stone unearthed during the course of the excavations. It is in Prakrit language and Brahmi characters of about 3rd century AD.

Kalyouu Cholukya inscriptions, District Gadag, Karnataka

These two inscriptions are in Kannada language and characters. The first one is engraved on a stone pillar found in a dilapidated temple. It seems to record a gift given collectively by six persons. The inscription is dated to saka 964 (Circa 1042 AD).

Another inscription is engraved on a pillar lying in the field on the way to old Gadag Road. It is dated in Chalukya Vikrama year 53 (1127 AD).

Tamil inscription, Mandya District, Karnataka

This inscription is in Tamil language bearing characters of 12th century AD and is found engraved on the inner doorway (east) of the Varadaraja Perumal temple. It contains the royal order addressed to the mahajanas of Marudur.

Uvotaka-Ganga Copper-Plate inscription, District Ganjam, Orissa

This set of three copperplates, now preserved at Archaeology Museum, Bhubaneswar, is in Sanskrit language and of Southern characters. It belongs to the Uvotaka-Ganga king Anantavarman (8th century AD) and was issued from the capital town of Uvotaka. It records the gift of four plots of land together with homestead lands situated in the north-west of the village.

Bhauma-Kara inscription, District Cuttack, Orissa

This stone inscription is now preserved in the storehouse at the Udayagiri excavation site. It is in Sanskrit language having Eastern characters of the 8th - 9th century A.D. and refers to the Bhauma-Kara king and his queen.

Chola inscription, District Pudukkottai, Tamil Nadu

This inscription, engraved on the north wall of the central shrine of the temple at Tirukkuvaayal, in Pudukkottai District, is in Tamil language and characters. It is dated in the 9th regnal year of the king (913 AD) who is identified with Parantaka Chola I. It records the gift of a lamp-stand for burning a perpetual lamp to the god.

Copper plate of Harsha, Varanasi District, Uttar Pradesh

A copper plate of Pusyabhuti King Harshavardhana ascribed to his 23rd regnal year (629 AD) records the genealogy of Pusyabhuti dynasty from Naravardhana to Harshavardhana with their titles along with the names of their queens.

Arabic and Persian

The Epigraphy Branch at Nagpur is responsible for research work in Arabic and Persian inscriptions.

During the period under reference, about 47 Perso-Arabic Inscriptions have been copied from various States of India, viz., Bihar, Karnataka, Punjab & Uttar Pradesh.

Out of these 47 records, one from Ludhiana in Punjab is a dynastic record representing Mughal Emperor Akbar (1556-1605 AD). It registers the execution of a mosque by one Amir Jan Ali Chishti in A.H. 976 = 1568 AD.

In addition to the above study of Arabic and Persian inscriptions, twelve (12) silver Mughal coins were examined and a report thereupon was prepared. Two different hoards of copper coins comprising 995 and 514 pieces, found in Haryana and Maharashtra states respectively are under examination.

Temple Survey Project

During the survey of the Mithila temples it was found that Mithila has its own school of Art and Architecture, particularly temple architecture. In the course of field survey some loose sculptures like Kali Durga, Vishnu, Shiv, Ganesh, Surya, Parwati and the Navagrahas were discovered dating back to 8th to 9th century. The sculptures of Durga of Madhubani District was unique and rare in its Art. A large number of images of Brahmanical gods and goddesses were discovered in various parts of Mithila, which testifies to the gradual expansion of Brahmanical tradition and culture under the Karnata and the Oiniwara Kings.

Archaeological Museums

There are 41 site museums under the ASI. National School of Drama is one of the foremost theatre training institutions in the world and the only of its kind in India. It was set up by Sangeet Natak Akademi in 1959 as one of its constituent units. In 1975, it became an independent entity and was registered as an autonomous organization under the Societies Registration Act XXI of 1860.

Besides the training programme which is of 3 years duration, the School has explored new vistas in the areas of Children Theatre and decentralization of theatre training through workshops under the Extension Programme. In 1999, the School organized its first National Theatre Festival (which was christened Bharat Rang Mahotsav). Leading theatre groups from various States with diverse and rich cultural heritage participated in the Mahotsav.

The training in the School is based on a thorough, comprehensive, carefully planned syllabus, which covers every aspect of theatre in which theory is related to practice. As part of their training, the students are required to produce plays, which are put to test before the widest public. The students are given systematic study and practical performing experience.

The admission to the School is restricted to 20 only in the first year of the course. a. Gandhi Smriti

Gandhi Smriti, housed in the Old Birla House on 5, Tees January Marg, New Delhi, is the sacred place where Mahatma Gandhi’s epic life ended on 30 January, 1948. Mahatma Gandhi had lived in this house from 9 September, 1947 to 30 January, 1948. Thus, the hallowed house treasures many memories of the last 144 days of his life. The Old Birla House was acquired by the Government of India in 1971 and was converted into a National Memorial of the Father of the Nation. It was opened to the public on August 15, 1973.

The Memorial contains a display of photographs, sculptures, paintings, frescos, inscriptions on rocks and relics pertaining to the years Gandhiji stayed there and includes the room where Gandhiji lived, the prayer ground where mass congregation used to be held and where the assassin’s bullets felled Gandhiji.

The second campus is situated adjacent to the Mahatma Gandhi Samadhi at Rajghat. The sprawling thirty-six acre campus came into existence in 1969 to mark the centenary of Mahatma Gandhi. The Govt. of India nurtures cultural relations with different countries in the form of Cultural Exchange Programmes executed under the Cultural Agreements signed with various countries.

Cultural Agreements:

Cultural Agreement is a one time legal document, signed by the Government of India with the Government of any other country. It forms the basis for further development of cultural ties in the form of Cultural Exchange Programmes.

Since independence, India has entered into Cultural Agreement with 117 countries. The Cultural Agreements with Iceland and Ireland have been signed recently on 20th October, 2005 and 19th January, 2006 respectively.

Cultural Exchange Programmes:

At present we have live CEPs with 26 countries. During the current year, so far 7 new CEPs have been signed.

Besides, the ICR Division organised the 2nd round of talks between India and Pakistan on Promotion of Friendly Exchanges in July 2005, “Days of Indian Culture” in Russia in Sept.-October, 2005 and 1st meeting of Indo-Norwegian Joint working Group on Culture.

RIGHT TO INFORMATION ACT, 2005

Prior to implementing the Right to Information Act, 2005, a workshop, under the Chairmanship of Secretary, was organised on 5th Sep. 2005 with Divisional Heads and Heads of all Attached/Subordinate Offices and Autonomous Organisations. The provisions of Right to Information Act, 2005 were discussed in detail especially with reference to the functioning of the Department and the various organizations under it. The Heads of all Institutions were asked to hold similar workshops in their organizations to familiarize the staff members with the salient features of the Act.

Nine Divisional Heads have been designated as Central Public Information Officers under section 5(2) of the Right to Information Act. Secretary in the Department has been designated as the Appellate Authority under section 19 (1) of the said Act. A copy of the orders appointing the Appellate Authority and Central Public Information Officers has been posted on the Department's website. The website has been suitably upgraded to meet the obligations under the Act.

Information manual for the convenience of general public has also been drawn up.

Till the going to the Press the Department had received only three applications under the RTI Act, 2005 seeking information.
3.1 Preservation and Restoration of Art Objects:

Performance Review on Preservation and Restoration of Art Objects of the Indian Museum, Victoria Memorial Hall and The Asiatic Society, Kolkata

The Indian Museum, Victoria Memorial Hall and The Asiatic Society in Kolkata are Institutions of National Importance engaged in acquisition, preservation and restoration of art objects of historical importance. Audit appraisal to evaluate the performance of these Institutions in respect of their functions revealed significant shortcomings. None of these institutions had a well-defined set of objectives. Their functions overlapped and there was no synergy among them, leading to inefficient and sub-optimal resource utilisation. In the absence of any adopted strategic or perspective plan indicating precise, measurable and achievable targets, their activities often lacked any direction. None of them had ever attempted to evolve or adopt any benchmarks or standards in respect of acquisition, conservation or documentation of the invaluable artefacts possessed by them.

The Institutions had never evolved any consistent policy in respect of acquisition of artefacts, whether by way of purchase or gifts or for their valuation, in the absence of which the decisions for acquisition were often arbitrary and lacked rationale. There was no mechanism to assess the genuineness of these artefacts. Shoddy documentation of the acquired artefacts and the inability of the institutions to modernise their documentation systems with the help of digital technology, coupled with the absence of any physical verification during the last five years make the artefacts vulnerable to loss.

Absence of planning was also noticed in the approach towards conservation and restoration of art objects. The Institutions had not created the necessary infrastructure for conservation and training. Further, failure to create appropriate storage facilities for their priceless possessions made the artefacts vulnerable to damage and undetected loss.
The security systems of the Institutions presented a poor and alarming picture. Effective manual or electronic surveillance systems were absent. Security guards were deployed without adequate training and experience and artefacts were exposed to very high risk of damage and loss.

Such lapses had resulted in the theft of a fifth century Buddha Head from the Indian Museum in December, 2004.

Present Status

C&AG has forwarded the draft vetted report on the above para and the requisite information have been sent to Lok Sabha Secretariat PAC Branch on 22nd November, 2005. Public Accounts Committee has visited Kolkata on 31st January, 2006 to discuss the audit observations with officials of Victoria Memorial Hall, Indian Museum and Asiatic Society, Kolkata.
